Make up a story about a festival in the Crimea.

For example, Koktebel Jazz Festival.

Koktebel Jazz Party is an annual festival of contemporary world jazz music that has become a strong tradition since 2003. It is held in the third weekend of September in a small Crimean town Koktebel, which has become a popular destination for musicians, poets and artists. The festival lasts for 4 days. During these days, the townlet becomes crowded with performers and music fans.

I find the festival quite important because you can listen to live music played by both the world's famous musicians and young talented composers.

Many music lovers are attracted to the festival because they can combine the pleasure of swimming in the Black Sea and listening to their favourite jazz melodies.

The best jazz bands from Brazil, the USA, Israel, Great Britain, India, Armenia, Germany, Netherlands, Belgium and other countries were invited to take part in the fest this year and they arrived paying no attention on sanctions. The main stage in the open air gathered the brightest stars of jazz.

In the yard of the Voloshin House-Museum, there was another stage where fans could listen to classic blues and jazz. They could either have seats at the small tables close to the stage or just sit on sand or grass watching the concerts transformed on huge screens.

It is an extremely popular event. One can buy souvenirs, take a lot of photos and taste local dishes in one of the numerous cafes located on the embankment. As a rule at the end of the festival, there is a huge fireworks display!
